LOOKS BAD FOR HER

Damaging Evidence Produced Against Mrs. Ayres.

HER PASSION UNGOVERNABLE

apted Her Husbe eral Times-The Public Asked to Withheld Judgment.

DETROIT, March 7.—Investigation the Ayres shooting has brought to lig Dermorr, March 7.—Investigation of the Ayres shooting has brought to light amaging evidence against Mrs. Ayres and the murder appears to have been remoditated. She had hought the receiver at Hodgins & Howard's store on Yesdward avenue shortly before using a Ayres carried a heavy insurance on its life, all the policies being made out a his wife's name. Howerst of these ares lapsing, or had lapsed, but his rife refused to assist him in getting hem into shape by withholding her agnature. This worried Ayres greatly. The cross bill which Ayres filed to his rife's bill for divorce was suppressed at the time, but its contents are now mown. In it he charged his wife with sing a woman of ungovernable passion, unreasonable in her demands and of a covetous and morcenary disposition. Further it was stated that she had periodical paroxyma of grief and anger, in which she became extremely rolent. Heveral instances are related in detail—how she struck him a gianomy blow with a sharp ax, and how at different times she attempted his life with revolver and knile and other weapons.

Elliott G. Stevenson, Mrs. Avery's at-

Elliott G. Stevenson, Mrs. Avery's attorney, has published a lengthy statement, in which he asks the public to withhold judgment for the present. Among other things, he states that for more than five years she has been subject to the "most outrag yously cruel, windictive and malignant treatment at the hands of her husband."

Crushed Between Logs.

East Jonday, Mich., March 7.—While coming down a steep hill with a big load of logs about four miles southwest of this place last week, Josiah St. John's horses fell. George Delmer was following close behind, but managed to stop his load in time to prevent injury to his team by crashing into the load in front. The rear leam was unhitched, but while the men were congratulating themselves on their narrow escape, the load, no longer held back by the horses, suddenly started, pitching Delmar between the forward and the rear load. He was instantly killed. The other three men in charge of the logs jumped to one pide, avoiding injury, the borses also ascaping harm. Delmar was 28 years pld, and leaves a young wife and one imail child in poor circumstances. East Jonnay, Mich., March 7 .- While Election at Cedar Springs. CEDAR STRINGS, March 7.—The village CEDAR STRINGS, March 7.—The village incket was elected today. The people are completely sick of whisky rule and a general disregard of the law. So they turned out and voted in their best men. There were two tickets in the field. Both were alike except as to the trustees. One hundred and eighty-light votes were cast, eighteen of which were thrown out because they were not properly marked. The following is the rote by candidates: Village ticket—fresident, D. C. Lyle, 158; treasurer, J. L. Fuller, 164; assessor, W. H. Sanlam, 159; trustees for three years—S. E. Andrus, 117; J. D. Clark, 117. Laboring men's ticket—trustees. George W. Ihearer, 50; F. C. Stone, 43.

Frank Wilson, an employe of the Hotel Jones, Edmore, circulated scandalous stories about Ida Carson and Jennie Mays, who had rejected his attentions. The girls are also employes of the hotel. Hearing the stories they pesolved on revenge. Calling him into the kitchen they confronted him with his stories. Just then one of the peryens to whom he had made the defamitory charge stepped from behind a loor with two new horsewhips. The awhides were handed to the enraged hris with the command: "Now give it to him." They chased him over the led hot stove, through a kettle of soup and under the meat table, where he has finally lashed into insensibility. When he revived they told him they hended to kill him unless he left how, and since then he has not been been.
